Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2778312A1] The shingle (10) has a front side (12), a back, and a side edge (18) that is arranged parallel to another side edge (20). A fold is arranged at the former side edge at which an edge strip is bent over the back. Another fold (52) is arranged on the latter side edge at which another edge strip (54) is bent. A cut-out opens to a boundary edge of the former edge strip. The bent former edge strip on both sides of the cut-out comprises different inclination angles with regard to the back. An independent claim is also included for a dressing.
