Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2013072041A1] The invention relates to a device (1) for moving a folding flap (91) which is movably received on a furniture body (95) and which comprises at least two folding elements (92, 93) connected via a hinge, comprising a power unit (21) which at least supports the opening of the folding flap (91) by applying a force via an adjusting arm (22) that is arranged on a first flap element (92) in a mounted state. According to the invention a second adjusting arm (32) of a second power unit (31, 32) is provided on the second flap element (93) for an articulated mounting, via which adjusting arm a force can be applied to the folding flap (91).
