Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2781606A1] The invention provides a fur processing apparatus, such as for processing mink fur, with two scraper units each with a plurality of rotating scraper rollers arranged to remove fat and flesh of a leather side of a fur when placed on a mandrel which is then projected forward in its length direction. Sprays of liquid are provided to remove fat and flesh off the fur in the absence of any particulate material such as particles of sawdust.
