Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2784003A1] The bag (1) has a removal opening defined by tear lines (7-9) between a filling chamber (5) and a handle strip (2) below a head seam (4). The handle strip forms a cover flap (12) for the removal opening, where the cover flap is formed as a part of the handle strip. The cover flap is intended to be torn open by weakening lines (13, 14) formed along the head seam, where the weakening lines are designed as perforation lines. A single-layer reinforcing strip is incorporated in the handle strip, where the strip is not a part of the cover flap. The wall thickness of the plastic bag is less than 50 micrometer.
