Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2784262A1] The cabinet (10) has a body and a roller blind, which is displaced between an open position and a closed position. The roller blind closes the front side of the body in its closed position. A unit is provided, which acts on one of the segments (20,40,50) of the roller blind such that all the segments of the roller blind, which are located on the side of the body closed by the roller blind, lie in a plane with their front side with completely closed roller blind.
