Abstract (en)
A lighting device (1) of the suspended type, comprising a tensioned cable (2) suitable for anchoring to a ceiling, a body (3) sliding along the cable (2), and an optical group (4) engaged to the body (3). The lighting device (1) further comprises a positioning system provided inside the body (3), and comprising a plurality of pulleys which define a path for the cable (2). Said path triggers a system of forces suitable for keeping the lighting device at the desired height.
