Abstract (en)
A hair piece (1) is disclosed comprising a base member (2) provided with strands of natural and/or artificial hair (3). The base member (2) has such a shape that the base member is close-fittingly wearable on the back and sides of a head (10) of a human being. The top of the head remains largely uncovered. The parts of the base member which are situated on either side of the head bound on an uncovered area (11) of the top of the head (10). These parts are connected to each other by means of a narrow connection (4). The size of the hair piece is selected such that the connection (4) is situated completely behind the hair line (12) on the front of the head in an area of the top of the head covered by natural hair, where the connection (4) itself has no hair or hardly any hair. The hair piece (1) can be applied in a simple, fast and invisible manner
