Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2013118074A1] The invention relates to an actuating device for a device for dispensing a fluid product, the dispensing device including a receptacle having an opening at the upper end thereof, a dispensing member (1) being mounted in said opening, the dispensing member (1) including a cylindrical push member (3) which has a vertical axis (3a), and the upper end of which extends vertically upward. Exerting pressure on the upper end of the push member (3) triggers the egress of the fluid product from the container via the dispensing member (1).
