Abstract (en)
The invention relates to a container wrap (1) that can be worn either as a backpack or as a bag suspended in front of the body of a person, who can wear it together with a backpack, a harness, a parachute or the like. The wrap consists of a main portion (2) made out of a flexible layer of fabric, film or the like, which can be closed in a bag-like fashion around the material it must contain. The wrap also comprises an additional compartment (30) for smaller objects, which is provided with an inflatable wall.
