Abstract (en)

[origin: CN104328601A] A method for binding off the stitches of a knitted fabric is disclosed. A flat knitting machine is provided with at least one needle bed and a wire coil transfer device. The method comprises the following steps: a) after the last wire coil row is knitted, a weft yarn (10) pad is placed on a first knitting needle (E) to be knocked over, and the weft yarn (10) pad sinks along with the knitting needle (E); b) a wire coil formed by the weft yarn (10) is moved to a knitting needle (F) having the next wire coil to be knocked over, the knitting needle (F) is enabled to sink; c) the step b) is repeated till the wire coil (M) to be knocked over is reached.
