Abstract (en)
A foldable high chair is equipped with a foldable support frame (10), a pair of driving arms (3), a foldable chair frame (4), a pair of second linking elements (15), a pair of third linking elements (16) and a pair of locking mechanisms (6). The foldable chair frame (4) is supported and associated with the foldable support frame (10) by the second and third linking elements (15, 16). When the locking mechanisms (6) is unlocked, the foldable chair frame (4) and the foldable support frame (10) can be converted into a folded configuration and overlapped with each other, so as can be hidden under a table for saving space in room.
