Abstract (en)

The present invention refers to a flexible container (10) for dispensing wet wipes which has a stack of non-intertwined wet wipes inside it. In the described embodiments, the container has a lid (20) that tightly seals an opening (15) in the container (10). Further, the present invention has at least one fastening element (25) which allows for the fastening at each time of the top wet wipe of the stack contained inside the flexible container (10). Thus, the present invention provides a flexible container (10) with a system for dispensing non-intertwined wet wipes contained therein, wherein only the top wet wipe of the stack contained inside the container is dispensed.
