Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2014012693A2] In the method of the invention for comminuting grinding stock in a vertical roller mill, the grinding stock is delivered in front of at least one grinding roller to form a grinding bed and is comminuted between a grinding dish and the at least one grinding roller. A feeding device allows the grinding bed be adjusted to different heights across the width of the grinding roller as the grinding bed is formed.
