Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2898964A1] The present invention refers to the field of manufacturing systems for the corkage of bottles, and in particular it concerns apparatuses for making wirehoods or retention muselets for equipping bottles of spumante, champagne and sparkling wine in general. Even more specifically, the invention concerns a unit that, in one of the aforementioned apparatuses, is intended for housing and locking the muselets between subsequent working stations of the muselets themselves.
