Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2014060387A1] The invention relates to an electrical potential distribution plug type adapter (20), in particular a fused plug type adapter (20), for electrically contacting a connection device (50) of an electrical component (5) for the automotive sector, having an adapter housing (200), the adapter housing (200) being constructed in such a manner that it can be directly received, in particular engaged, in a distributor housing (2) and an electrical potential distributor contact device (300) is received inside the adapter housing (200). The invention further relates to a method for equipping an electrical distributor device (1), in particular a fuse box (1), for connection devices (50) of electrical components (5) for the automotive sector, the distributor device (1) having at least one conventional insertion location (12) for a connection device (50) and an electrical potential distribution plug type adapter (20) which is manufactured with an electrical cable (4) or an electrical cable harness (4) is provided on/in the distributor device (1), in particular engaged.
