Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2014122237A1] The invention relates to a garment the upper body (of a human), comprising at least one section (A) and at least one section (B). The two sections (A) and (B) differ in their elastofibre content, preferably in their elastane content, the elastofibre content in section (A) being always greater than the elastofibre content in the section (B). The claimed garments can also comprise a plurality of (A) and/or (B) sections which can be the same or different in terms of the elastofibre content and/or the used yarn. In addition, the claimed garments can also have sections that have no elastofibre content or less than 1% elastofibres. Said claimed garments are particularly useful in sport and leisure and as (professional) work clothing, for example in the construction industry.
