Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2014135375A1] The invention relates to a dispenser (1) for dispensing a material from a container (2) via a dispense valve (22) and a dispense protrusion (13). A cap (3) having an upper cap side (6) and surrounding the outlet valve (22) at least in part is connected to the container (2). A lever (9) for actuating the dispense valve (22) is connected pivotably about a pivot axis (20) to the cap (3). The cap (3) has a first cutout (7) in which the lever (9) is provided at least in part, such that parts of the outer surface of the cap (3) are formed by the lever (9). The lever (9) in turn has a second cutout (12) in the area of the first cutout (7) in the cap (3). During dispensing of the material, a protruding dispense region of the dispense valve (22) or a dispense protrusion (13) mountable on the outlet valve (22) extends through the second cutout (12) of the lever (9), and thus also through the first cutout of the cap (3).
