Abstract (en)

The invention relates to a self-propelled wrapping machine (10) comprising a frame (11) with a pair of non-steering wheels (12), a lifting system (13) with an upright (16) and a moving trolley (15) to which a spool-holder assembly (14) is attached and at least one steering wheel (18) connected to a support (19) connected to the frame (11) so that it can turn with respect to it about a substantially vertical axis (Z), characterized in that it comprises a cleaning device (100) for cleaning a floor, or a surface on the ground, connected to said frame (11) and/or to said upright (16). According to the invention the self-propelled wrapping machine is also provided with a control device for the steering wheel that allows the machine to be easily driven during the cleaning operations. Driving of the machine during the cleaning operations can be entrusted to an automatic driving system without an operator.
