Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2014199246A1] This invention relates generally to a packet for holding substantially elongated articles such as cigarettes and the like. This invention can be used for secure packing of cigarettes, candy and the like products. It provides a click lock feature of the double layered folding lid (2). It is achieved through creating integrated notches (3) from the folding lid (2), which lock within the slots (15) created on the outer container with a click, delivering a secure closing and opening experience.
