Abstract (en)

Containers of consumer goods include a housing having a wall that at least partially defines an interior of the housing and at least a first consumer good and a second consumer good disposed in the interior of the housing. A first overwrap is disposed around at least a portion of the first consumer good, and a second overwrap is disposed around at least a portion of the second consumer good. A first portion of the first overwrap is secured to the wall of the housing, secured to the second overwrap, or secured to both the wall of the housing and the second overwrap, so that at least the first portion of the first overwrap remains within the interior of the housing when the first consumer good is removed from the container. By overwrapping the consumer goods, freshness or the perception of freshness of the consumer good can be maintained after initial opening of the container.
