Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2015059142A1] The invention relates to a godet for guiding a thread and to a method for controlling a godet and a method for operating a godet. The godet and the method are based on the fact that a godet casing (1), driven by an electric drive (2), of the godet is used in order, given a corresponding design of the electric drive (2), to restart the drive, following an interruption to operation, by way of a manually generated rotary movement of the godet casing (1). The drive can be activated without additional tools following an interruption to operation.
