Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2015063174A1] There is provided a method of handling tobacco material. The method comprises the steps of heating the tobacco material such that the tobacco material is pasteurised; packaging the pasteurised tobacco material into packaging material; and sealing the packaging material. The step of heating is performed before the steps of packaging and sealing, and the steps of packaging and sealing are performed within a clean environment (102, 202, 302).
