Abstract (en)
[origin: EP3078300A1] Lounger (10), comprising a frame (11) and a pivotally adjustable bed surface (12), wherein the bed surface (12) and the frame (11) comprise a co-operating combination of a member (134) projecting transversely to the longitudinal direction of the lounger and a corresponding recess (118, 172), characterised in that the recess (172) is provided with a closure in the form of a movable closing member (170), wherein a movement of the closing member allows for opening and closing the recess (172), thus allowing the projecting member (134) to be locked up in the recess when the bed surface is in the horizontal position in order to lock the bed surface in place relative to the frame.
