Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2015091128A2] Disclosed is a wall element (1) for a drawer. A lateral edge section of a drawer bottom can be inserted into said wall element (1) in order for a drawer sidewall to be formed that adjoins the drawer bottom. The wall element (1) of the drawer is provided with a supporting surface, in particular one that is made of a sheet metal material, for supporting the lateral edge section from below. According to the invention, the wall element (1) of the drawer is provided with an offset section (16) underneath the supporting surface, within the width thereof. In a cross-sectional view parallel to the supporting surface, said offset section (16) extends within the width of the supporting surface, underneath the supporting surface.
