Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2015092517A1] The invention relates to a radiator (1) for hot-water heating, in particular for heating systems for civil use, comprising a succession of modular radiating elements (2) interconnected with each other and arranged to be mounted on a wall (3). A peculiar characteristic of this radiator (1) is given by the fact that the radiating elements (2) are made of optically transparent material.
