Abstract (en)
[origin: US2016310340A1] A bedside assistant for a person in a bed comprising a vertical column that connects to the bed frame of a bed and an arm which is connected to the top of the vertical column. The arm can be rotated on the connection and swivelled with respect to the vertical column. The connection between the arm and the column comprises a locking mechanism locking one direction of the swivel movement of the arm and allowing a swivel movement of the arm in the other swivel direction.
