Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2015107113A1] The invention relates to a composition that includes cork or a cork-based material and a binder which includes at least one polyhydroxyurethane prepared using raw materials that are not highly toxic, preferably from biomass. In particular, the polyhydroxyurethane binder is synthesised from at least one compound (A) comprising two or more cyclocarbonate groups and at least one compound (B) comprising two or more amino groups. The invention also relates to the method for preparing said composition.
