Abstract (en)

[origin: US2016348359A1] A partitioning wall module of a partitioning wall for covering an opening in a building structure includes a module frame made from at least two vertical profiles and at least two horizontal profiles. One covering panel is attached on both sides to the module frame. Each of the horizontal profiles includes a contacting section disposed at each end, which is in attaching contact with one counter-contacting section of a vertical profile in a sectionwise positive attaching contact for attaching the horizontal profiles to the vertical profiles.
