Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2015126342A1] The present invention includes various products with different qualities, which are obtained by combining the other food products that have different geometries and can be used for sticking on a multi-layer base, and large particles. If desired, the entire product can be coated with a food product again. Additionally, the top of said product can be decorated with decorating materials and stuck with smaller food products on the surface after the final coating, if desired.
