Abstract (en)
A cosmetic brush (1) is formed so that a number of bristles (5) sandwiched between deformed core wires (3i) each having a non-circular cross section, and the bristles (5) are split into two parts with respect to a brush portion axial direction (P) and extend from twisted portions (4) of the deformed core wires (3i) of a brush portion (10) formed by twisting the deformed core wires (3i) together. Accordingly, the cosmetic brush (1) can be obtained which can retain an appropriate amount of a cosmetic liquid (12) and does not need any extra members, and is provided with gaps (6) of the bristles (5) in the brush portion axial direction (P).
