Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2015155760A1] The invention provides caps comprising a closure assembly, which permits operational separation between the utilization of the container and utilization of a storage and/or mirrors' arrangement, such that a user may extract the container's contents independently from the use of the storage or mirrors' arrangement, and the storage and/or mirrors' arrangement may be used independently, without the need to open the container.
