Abstract (en)
Laundry drying machine (1) comprising a cabinet (2) inside which a rotating drum (3) is arranged. The machine (1) also comprises a main air circuit through which a main airflow (F) coming from the outside circulates and is conditioned by a heating element (4) before being directed to the drum (3) so that it dries the clothes contained in the drum (3), and at least one additional air circuit through which an additional airflow (f') also coming from the outside circulates. Said additional airflow (f') is directed to the drum (3) after circulating through the inside of the machine (1), so that said additional airflow (f') is mixed with the main airflow (F) in the drum (3).
