Abstract (en)
A dignity cover for a patient to use in conjunction with a hoist is disclosed, comprising a flexible elongate sheet having two holes or openings suitably spaced inwards of its edge and suitable for the straps of a hoisting mechanism to be positioned through the holes or openings such that a patient can be hoisted with straps extending through both holes or openings with a hoist support mounted between the straps underneath the patient, such that the dignity cover retains in place whilst the patient is being hoisted by virtue of the straps through the holes or openings.
