Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2016008715A1] The invention relates to a weapons transport system for a submarine, for transporting a weapon from a facility for storing and/or carrying the weapon, to another facility for storing and/or carrying the weapon. The weapons transport system comprises a carriage provided with coupling means, by means of which the carriage can be secured to the weapon. The carriage can be moved, together with the weapon, from a start position in one of the facilities for storing and/or carrying the weapon, into an end position in the other facility for storing and/or carrying the weapon.
