Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2016030182A1] The invention relates to a piece of frame furniture comprising a panel (2) and two leg elements (4) that support the panel (2), which leg elements are arranged on both sides of a vertical furniture centre plane and are movably mounted. The piece of frame furniture is characterised in that each leg element (4) can be moved between a normal position, in which the leg elements (4) are covered by the panel (2), and an extended position, in which the leg elements (4) are exposed at the top, in order to enable the piece of frame furniture to be stacked by means of the leg elements (4).
