Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2016055511A1] A method for incinerating waste comprising a first step of contacting, in a precombustion chamber (7), a first waste stream and oxygen- containing gas having insufficient oxygen for complete combustion to occur, thereby producing a partially combusted waste stream, and then contacting, in an incinerator chamber (13), the partially combusted waste stream and oxygen-containing gas, thereby causing the partially combusted waste stream to completely combust.
