Abstract (en)
Shower apparatus has a flexible hose and a flat storage box (1) defining a hose cavity to hold the hose. A running opening (5) for the hose is defined at the end of a top edge wall, and leads onto an indented end edge wall portion (12) constituting an interior deflector (3) to direct inserted hose diagonally onto the base of the box. A drainage outlet (6) in the base of the box, connected to a general bath drain, has a valve (7) with a buoyant sealing ball (73) to prevent water from rising up into the box through the drainage outlet.
