Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2016066181A1] An awning (1) is provided for camping accommodation in the form of a camping trailer, a motor home, a folding caravan or similar equipment (2). The awning (1) which is connectable to said equipment has a linkage (G) which encompasses the wall parts (3, 4, 5, 6, 7) of said awning, which wall parts are each formed from sheets of canvas, and, in the use position, stiffens said wall parts at least in regions. The concept according to the invention makes provision for the awning to be formed from an enveloping structure (H), which is closable at least in regions in the region of respective side wall parts, roof parts and floor parts, and said enveloping structure is inflatable here in a substantially airtight state. Particularly simple erection of the awning is therefore possible. This is also possible in particular whenever a pressure vessel (105) is introduced as an additional inflatable part into the enveloping structure.
