Abstract (en)

The present invention relates to a packaging case comprising: an inner case having at least three sidewalls for packaging products; and an outer case having support pieces supporting the pair of inner case sidewalls, which face each other, so as to prevent the movement of the inner case, encompassing the remaining region, which excludes the inner case sidewalls supported by the support pieces, and accommodating and packaging the inner case, wherein the support pieces are foldably provided to the outer case.
