Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2016144283A1] A method of making decorative stretch ceilings includes the choice of a pattern, cutting the polymeric material, its further processing using a special- purpose computer-controlled machine with digital pattern pre-recorded in its memory, and mounting the cut and processed polymeric material by fixing the heated material in the profiles that are set as a frame on a ceiling or walls. The polymeric material processing is performed by cutting out the patterns using a special-purpose computer-controlled machine equipped with a cutting tool.
