Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2016184674A1] The invention relates to a system (2) and a method for producing a particulate tobacco product (4, 4'). A flat tobacco starting material is made available and is conveyed to a punching station (8, 20) in a processing plane (E). Tobacco particles (32) are punched out from the starting material in a punching station, using a punching tool (16, 22). A plurality of punched-out tobacco particles (32) is made available as a particulate tobacco product (4, 4').
