Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2016191716A1] The present disclosure generally relates to a well control/string release tool 70a and methods using the tool. The well control/string release tool 70a may be attached to a workstring 9 while performing well control procedures. The well control/string release tool may be used to release the workstring 9 attached thereto in a controlled manner in the event of critical emergency well control. A well control/ string release tool includes a release sub 204, a handling sub 202, and one or more load bearing elements 228 selectively coupled between the release sub 204 and the handling sub 202.
