Abstract (en)

The present invention relates to a display tray, a display comprising such trays, and a method for setting up a display. The display tray according to the invention comprises: - a carrier floor (5) configured for placing goods thereon; - a support (15a-d) having a hinged end (17) and a free end (19), wherein the support is at the hinged end thereof hingedly connected to the carrier floor for rotation about an axis of rotation (25) between an extended state, wherein the support extends substantially perpendicular to the carrier floor, and a collapsed state, wherein the support extends substantially along the carrier floor, and wherein the support has an abutment (53) at its free end; and - an accommodation (41) and an opening (39) providing an opening to the accommodation, wherein the hinged end of the support partly defines the accommodation, and the accommodation is configured for receiving an abutment (153) at a free end of a support (115) of a second display tray (101) such that rotation of the support about its axis of rotation is locked after insertion of the abutment (153) of the second display tray (101).
