Abstract (en)
[origin: EP3354357A1] A mobile aggregate processing plant comprising a mobile chassis and a crusher mounted on the mobile chassis via a mounting, the mounting including a plurality of height extenders able to alter the overall height of the mobile aggregate processing plant between a transport configuration and an operating configuration. In this way, the overall height of the mobile aggregate processing plant can be lowered to achieve a suitable transport configuration, and raised to an operating configuration where there is no height restriction.
