Abstract (en)
The present application relates to a fixing support and its use. The fixing support comprises: a suspension element able to be attached either to a movable or a fixed means; at least one upper support bar fixed to the suspension element by pressing or squeezing; at least one fixing element; and a plane/separator. From the practical point of view, the fixing support may be used for the transportation and storage of cables, pre-assemblies, components, wires and/or filaments, preventing the entangling thereof.
