Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2017072665A1] Apparatus (1) of containment and transport of objects comprising a main hollow body (2) provided with outer side walls (2a) and a pair of gripping and support elements (3) coupled to said outer side walls (2a). Each gripping and support element (3) is configured to rotate on the outer side walls (2a) independently from the other gripping and support element (3), thus switching from a first vertical position in which each gripping and support element (3) is fixed to the main hollow body (2) to a second vertical position rotated of 180° from the first vertical position, in which each gripping and support element (3) is laying down on the ground.
