Abstract (en)

[origin: CN207998009U] A equipment for packing for using commodity are tied up to film that has an elasticity is disclosed. Equipment for packing includes first winding module, ties up the article stream with one row at least commodity that move in succession via the available film that has the elasticity of this first winding module. In addition, equipment for packing includes second winding module, ties up the articlestream of tying up with the film that has the elasticity with one row at least commodity that move in succession via the available other film that has the elasticity of second winding module. In addition, be equipped with transport module, can transmit the article stream of tying up with the film that has the elasticity with one row at least commodity that move in succession for second winding module from first winding module via transport module. Transport module includes at least one jut, and this at least one jut can drive corresponding district that the article with one row at least commodity that move in succession tied up flow section with the film that has the elasticity under the circumstances that subsidies were leaned on to transmit for second winding module from first winding module.
