Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2017133926A1] A method for comminuting especially metal-containing solid matter, wherein the solid matter, which has preferably been pre-compressed first, is delivered to a grinding mill (2) and is comminuted therein, is devised in such a way that the comminuted solid matter is delivered to a granulation device (3) and is further comminuted and disintegrated therein.
