Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2017152199A1] The invention relates to a finishing device for a floor (1) with a finishing strip (3) and a holder (2) for forming a wall leg (6), said holder comprising a holding web (8) which protrudes upwardly parallel to the wall leg (6) and engages in a downwardly open receiving groove (9) of the finishing strip (3) for the clamping accommodation of the finishing strip (3). In order to ensure advantageous fastening conditions for the finishing strip (3), it is proposed that the receiving groove (9) has a central axis (11) in the cross-section, which is inclined away from the wall leg (6).
