Abstract (en)
[origin: CA3020689A1] The invention relates to a device (1) for packaging at least one unit dose of medicaments in a divided solid pharmaceutical form forming at least one cell for storing and dispensing such a unit dose, each cell comprising: - a dish (11) delimiting a storage volume (15) for such a unit dose; - a cover (12) designed to close the storage volume; - partitioning (13) designed to be able to extend through the storage volume of the dish and delimit a plurality of compartments (20) therein for keeping the medicaments of the unit dose separate from one another; characterized in that the partitioning (13) extending through the dish (11) is removable from the dish (11). The invention also relates to a packaging method, a device for storing and dispensing such medicaments, and a method for dispensing such medicaments to a patient.
